BOB GIBBONS' "BLIND." Judge Servis, the Associate Justice of the First District Territorial Court of Montana, is justly celebrated for his legal learning, and is greatly beloved by his friends. He is stern, upright and honest. But, with all his legal attainments, he is not the greatest man at cards in the Territory. It has been said that he did not know the Jack of Hearts from the Ace of Diamonds.

In the Radersburg Mining Camp three persons were sitting around a table in one of those log cabins, which, "with a billiard table attached," which are so common in mining camps, playing a small game of three hand poker. A quarrel ensued, which resulted in an aggravated case of assault and battery. This did not end the affair, for the next term of the Court, at the head of the docket, stood the Territory of Montana vs. A. L. Parks, for an assault and battery with intent to kill on the body of Andy Anderson.

The trial came on, and the only witness to the affair was Bob Gibbons, who was the third in the game. Having been sworn, he was directed to tell the court and jury everything he knew about the affair. After clearing his throat he commenced by stating that "me and Parks and Anderson were over at Hallbeck's saloon, the second day after election, when Parks proposed that we should have a game of poker.
All agreed to it, and we went into the back room and set down to the game; did not know that there was any bad feeling between Parks and Anderson, or I would not have played, but heard afterward."

Here Bob was interrupted by the court, who directed him to keep all hearsays to himself and confine himself strictly to the facts of the case.
The witness continued: "Well, we set down to the table. Anderson sat there, Parks here, and I there (making a diagram on the clerk's table). Parks dealt the cards; I went blind; Anderson went blind over me, and Parks would not see him."

The judge who was a little deaf, was in the habit of making an ear-trumpet of his hand and throwing his head a little forward and sideways.
Having gone through this pantomime, he interrupted the witness by asking him:

"What was the reason that Parks did not see Anderson?"

The witness replied: "I don't know, but he would not see him."

"Proceed," said the judge.

"Well, I saw him, he saw, and just at that minute—"

"Stop, sir," said the judge, throwing himself into a hearing attitude. "Did I understand you to say that you went blind?"

"Yes, sir, I went blind, and Anderson went blind, and Parks would not see him, but I saw Anderson, and then he saw—"

"Witness," exclaimed the judge, striking the bench with his clenched fist. "Do I hear you right, sir? Do you say that you went blind and then you saw?"

"I saw," replied the witness. "I saw Anderson, and Anderson saw, and just at that—"

"Stop, sir," said the judge. Mr. Clerk, fine the witness fifty dollars for contempt of court, and direct the sheriff to take him to jail, and there to keep him until he receives further orders from the court. Call up the next case, Mr. Clerk."

Bob Gibbons was dumfounded, and did not awake to the reality of his condition until the sheriff laid his hands on him, when he exclaimed:

"Good gracious, Mr. Judge, what have I done, that I must go to jail?"

The judge, who was purple with rage, did not deign to reply to poor Gibbons, but reiterated the order with increased vehemence, and the members of the bar, who had been advising the fit that Bob would eventually be placed in, were convulsed with laughter, which increased the rage of the judge to the highest pitch. The prosecuting attorney endeavored to elucidate the judge, and eventually succeeded, but not until he had produced a pack of cards, and after dealing out the three hands, made the blind as clear as day to the judge.

The fine and imprisonment were remitted, order was restored in the court, and Gibbons was allowed to proceed with his testimony.

There is a prospect of tribulation of weeping and wailing among the saints out in Utah.— Nineteen Mormons have been indicted for polygamy by the grand jury of Judge McKean's court, and the job is only fairly commenced.
The Salt Lake News is alarmed at this sudden coming down of the law upon the "polygami-stic institution," and rushes into figures to show what a tremendously expensive and grievous piece of business it is liable to prove.

Jannuscheck, the Bohemian actress, is very superstitious. She thinks that precious metals and stones have a charm for good luck in them, and that Friday is an unlucky day, and refuses to travel on it. If her maid puts any garment upon her wrong she has "horrible autopsies," and will never turn back when once started from a place.
